

Regulatory & Entrepreneurs Lawyer

LINDEMANNLAW is a leading, award-winning Swiss boutique law firm with a focus on financial market regulation and legal, corporate and tax work for international entrepreneurs. Within the regulatory field, we advise on alternative investments, FINMA, FMA, CSSF licenses as well as initial public offerings, M&A, bond issuance, securitization, and fintech including token issuing and blockchain. We help our entrepreneur clients with the creation and implementation of investment funds, holdings, trusts and foundations and other international structures in a multitude of recognized jurisdictions. We support them with relocation advice and escrow account services. As a single point of contact we provide cutting edge legal and tax services to Switzerland's and the world's most successful entrepreneurs and players in the financial industry. LINDEMANNLAW is an equal opportunity employer committed to cultural diversity.

Your Role

For the ongoing expansion of our Zurich practice, we are looking for a self-motivated and outstanding full-or part-time attorney, who is well versed in all the subjects above and wishes to contribute, learn & develop as well as grow with his challenges. You will be part of a highly specialized team with international exposure. You will closely work together with the firm's partners on challenging jobs from day one and gradually develop your own client portfolio on your way to your position as a partner of the law firm.

Your Profile

You have excellent academic credentials with a law degree from a Swiss law school and are admitted to the bar in Switzerland. Work experience from an internationally oriented law firm or financial services player is a plus. You are strongly entrepreneurial minded with excellent analytical skills and a self-starter mentality. We also consider candidates for part time re-entry into professional life upon sabbatical or for family reasons. You have the ability to listen carefully, work efficiently and precisely against tight deadlines. You are fluent in German and English; French, Italian, Spanish and Russian would be a plus.

What We Offer

Opportunity to work in a fast-growing Swiss/international environment with superb possibilities for professional development. We offer an attractive remuneration package in line with your qualification and experience, and a development plan for your career. If you are interested to join us, please send your application including motivation letter, CV and references to Dr. Alexander Lindemann (alexander.lindemann@lindemannlaw.ch). We look forward to getting in touch!
